Overview and information for a Curriculum Policy

- This policy provides an overarching framework that translates the values and aims of the school into effective teaching and learning
  - The policy covers both the National Curriculum, which provides the legal foundation and secures an entitlement for all pupils, and all that is learned in school, formally and informally, and within and beyond the school day
  - The policy establishes principles against which other policies and procedures can be developed or checked so that they are consistent and coherent
  - The legal requirement includes: teaching the National Curriculum, religious education and sex education to secondary age pupils; teaching about drugs as per the science element of the National Curriculum; providing a daily act of collective worship; avoiding political bias; providing careers education and guidance with access to specialist support; making provision for pupils with Special Educational Needs; deciding whether to dis-apply aspects of the curriculum to provide more time for other aspects (such as the work-related curriculum or basic skills); and establishing procedures for dealing with complaints
  - The policy should include a statement of purpose
  - The school should consult with parents and staff in writing the policy, and consult annually.
  - The policy embraces policies and procedures for admissions, assessment, careers education and guidance, charging, collective worship, drug education, equal opportunities, health and safety, homework, lettings, nutritional standards, performance management, race equality, school visits, session times, SEN, sex education, staff discipline, and teaching and learning
